Description

This one-of-a-kind list contains the names, addresses and phone information on people who have applied for health insurance online and who had been turned down for this coverage. Through modeling, we are able to infer those that have been refused coverage for financial reasons. These consumers may well qualify for health coverage from a low-income provider, one that would be more affordable for these consumers. The people on this list tend to be security-conscious but may be experiencing some financial difficulties and would probably be receptive to offers of credit, merchandise that lets you pay over time and auto insurance offers as well as health insurance that caters to lower-income households. All records contain postal addresses and telephones.

Pre-payment is required.
Visa and Mastercard accepted.
